Susan Harling Robinson Memorial Park | Located on the corner of Pine and Cypress

This park was erected to commemorate the life of Susan Harling Robinson. Susan Harling Robinson's life story is the inspiration behind Steel Magnolias, for both the film and play. The film celebrates strength and indomitable spirit of Southern women. Susan passed away in October of 1985 and treasured the pride of heritage and the beauty one finds in her beloved Natchitoches. The history of Natchitoches is filled with amazing women noted for their strength, courage and purpose. The dedication of this park to Susan, adds another name to that illustrious list.

Dr. Mildred H. Bailey Memorial Park | Located behind the headquarters for the Natchitoches Historic Foundation 550 Second St.

Dr. Mildred Hart "Dede" Bailey served Northwestern State University as a professor, department chairman and dean. She was a founding member of the Natchitoches Historic Foundation, Inc., which owns this park, and was instrumental in preserving her Victorian Home, Chaplin House, which contained one of the largest collections of art created by her friend and renowned primitive artist Clementine Hunter. This garden was constructed with a grant from the Natchitoches Historic District Development Commission's Parks Project.

Jefferson Highway Park | Located next to Fort St. Jean Baptiste SHS

The Jefferson Highway was an automobile highway stretching from Winnipeg, Canada to New Orleans Louisiana, through the central United States and was known as the "Pine to Palm Highway" for the trees found at either end. It was built as part of the 1910's National Auto Trail system and was named for President Thomas Jefferson and inspired by the east-west Lincoln Highway. This park was erected to show the significance of the Natchitoches portion of the Jefferson Highway.

EXPLORE | Veteran's Memorial Park

Located to the left of Lasyone's Meat Pie Kitchen | (318) 357-3106

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1962 and the Natchitoches Parish Veterans and Memorial Park Committee have partnered to develop a site in Historic Downtown Natchitoches to honor our service men and women. This place of honor provides the community not only an area for private reflection but a small gathering place for events honoring the fallen as well.

DISCOVER | Grady Erwin Nature Area

Grady Erwin Nature Area offers hiking and nature trails on 84 acres of land. There are three trail systems totaling 4.5 miles. One trail is 2.5 miles and the other two are one mile in length. One trail is intermediate and two trails are for beginners. The trails are made for walkers and runners. There are jumps, turns and other cool aspects for bikers. This project was completed by Northwestern State University, the City of Natchitoches, the Cane River National heritage Area, a contribution from Payne Williams, and the design work of Nevada Thomason of Tyler, Texas.
